PREFACE

The 1993 Indonesia Family Life Survey (IFLS) provides data at the individual and family level on fertility, health, education, migration, and employment. Extensive community and facility data accompany the household data. The survey was a collaborative effort of Lembaga Demografi of the University of Indonesia and RAND, with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, USAID, Ford Foundation, and the World Health Organization. In Indonesia, the 1993 IFLS is also referred to as SAKERTI 93 (Survai Aspek Kehidupan Rumah Tangga Indonesia).

The IFLS covers a sample of 7,224 households spread across 13 provinces on the islands of Java, Sumatra, Bali, West Nusa Tenggara, Kalimantan, and Sulawesi. Together these provinces encompass approximately 83 percent of the Indonesian population and much of its heterogeneity. The survey brings an interdisciplinary perspective to four broad topic areas:

- fertility, family planning, and contraception
- infant and child health and survival
- education, migration and employment
- the social, economic, and health status of adults, young and old

Additionally, extensive community and facility data accompany the household data. Village leaders and heads of the village women's group provided information in each of the 321 enumeration areas from which households were drawn, and data were collected from 6,385 schools and health facilities serving community residents.

This document contains the English translation of the questionnaires and interviewer manual for the household survey component (IFLS-HH). The IFLS-HH questionnaires are essential for the analysis of the IFLS-HH data as they contain the actual questions asked of respondents. The interviewer manual provides background material that helps explain the goal of a particular set of questions and any guidelines to interviewers in how to handle responses.

The complete public use file documentation consists of the following publications:

- DRU-1195/1-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Overview and Field Report. This report describes the purpose, design, field work and response rates for both the household and the facility components of the IFLS.
- DRU-1195/2-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Appendix A, Household Questionnaires and Interviewer Manual. This document provides the English translations of the questionnaires used during the household and individual interviews, as well as the interviewers' instructions.
- DRU-1195/3-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Appendix B, Community-Facility Questionnaires and Interviewer Manual. This document provides the the English translations of the questionnaires used during the community leader and facility interviews, as well as the interviewers' instructions.
- DRU-1195/4-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Appendix C, Household Codebook. The codebook provides descriptions of all variables and their and locations in the IFLS data files. The codebook also presents information on cases that are known anomalies.
- DRU-1195/5-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Appendix D, Community-Facility Codebook. The codebook provides descriptions of all variables and their and locations in the IFLS data files. The codebook also presents information on cases that are known anomalies.
- DRU-1195/6-NICHD/AID, The 1993 Indonesian Family Life Survey: Appendix E, Users' Guide. This report document provides descriptions of the IFLS data format and data files. Guidelines for data use are provided, with special emphasis on working with the household, individual, and facility IDs and making links across different parts of the survey.

Subsequent announcements regarding the 1993 IFLS database can be found on the Family Life Surveys Home Page under the Labor and Population Program Home Page on RAND's external World Wide Web server: <http://www.rand.org>. Users should check this page periodically for updated information on the 1993 IFLS. The FLS Home Page also contains information on the First and Second Malaysian Family Life Surveys conducted in 1976-1977 and in 1988-1989.

Subsequent information about the 1993 IFLS will also appear in the FLS Newsletter. The FLS Newsletter, meant to serve all FLS data users and interested parties, is a free occasional publication of the RAND

Center for the Study of the Family in Economic Development and the RAND Population Research Center. The newsletter disseminates information about surveys fielded by RAND in developing countries. Those who are not already subscribers may either subscribe via the FLS Home Page above or by sending electronic mail to the FLS subscription alias fls-sub@rand.org.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The 1993 Indonesia Family Life Survey (IFLS) provides data at the individual and family level on fertility, health, education, migration, and employment. Extensive community and facility data accompany the household data. The survey was a collaborative effort of Lembaga Demografi (LD) of the University of Indonesia and RAND, with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, USAID, Ford Foundation, and the World Health Organization.

The IFLS questionnaire development, fieldwork, and public use file creation represent the combined efforts of social scientists in Indonesia and the United States. At RAND, Paul Gertler served as Principal Investigator, with Elizabeth Frankenberg and Lynn Karoly as co-Principal Investigators. Sulistinah Achmad was the LD Project Director, with co-Directors I.G.N. Agung and Sri Harijati Hatmadji. In addition, Susan Butler, Theo Downes-LeGuin, Christine Peterson, Polly Phipps and Paramita Sudharto were instrumental to the survey effort.

A number of other researchers at RAND contributed to the design of the questionnaire and implementation of the survey. In particular, Julie DaVanzo, Reta Hendratidewi, Jacob Klerman, Lee Lillard, Jack Molyneaux, Bob Schoeni, James P. Smith, and Duncan Thomas contributed tremendously to questionnaire development. John Adams and Dan McCaffrey developed procedures for sampling and for constructing weights. RAND staff Kim Linton, Nick Murray, Caron Murray, Joanna Nelsen, Judy Perlman, and Carl Serrato played key roles in the logistics of questionnaire production and editing, fieldwork, and data entry. We would also like to acknowledge the input of Angus Deaton (Princeton University), T. Paul Schultz (Yale University), and John Strauss (Michigan State University).

The survey could not have taken place without the efforts of the directors and staff at LD, particularly N. Haidy A. Pasay and Djuhari Wirakartakusumah, the current and former LD directors, respectively, as well as Aris Ananta and Sri Moertiningsih Adioetomo. Eko Ganiarto, Akhir Matua Harahap, Edy Priyono, Gatot Arya Putra, Sapruddin, Sutji

Rochani, and M. Yusuf all participated in questionnaire design, training, and fieldwork for the household survey. Nargis, Darlis Rabai, and Muda Saputra participated in questionnaire design, training, and fieldwork for the community and facility survey. Gita Marina Sapprudin managed the technical production of the instrument, while Ni Wayan Suriastini, Linda Fitriawati, Sugiharso, and Hendratno took responsibility for data entry.
